SupplyPro Expands Production Capacity with New Headquarters Facility in San Diego

Larger Production Facility Required to Meet Exponential Market Demand for the Company's Point-of-Use Systems

SAN DIEGO – Nov. 1, 2007 – SupplyPro, Inc., the premier provider of automated point-of-use dispensing solutions, today announced the company has moved into new headquarters in San Diego. The new 30,000 sq. ft. facility at 8572 Spectrum Lane doubles the company's warehouse and production space enabling significantly increased production capacity to meet growing demand for SupplyPro's systems. A new demonstration area has also been incorporated into the expanded facility for hands-on exhibition of products for prospects.

David J. Simbari, President and CEO of SupplyPro said of the move, "This year we have seen considerable market growth for our systems. We have expanded our footprint in all major categories and we needed a world-class facility to manage our increased demand. Our new facility will allow for faster system turnaround and streamlined operations so our clients and partners can deliver cost savings to their organizations as early as this year."
