

SupplyPro Appoints Justin Dass as Vice President of Business Development

Seasoned Executive Tapped to Strategically Manage and Expand Company's Cloud Software Portfolio

SAN DIEGO –April 18, 2017 – SupplyPro, an inventory management solutions provider, today announced Justin Dass has joined the company as Vice President of Business Development for the Domestic and International Division for the company's software offerings. Dass is a software sales leader with more than a decade of experience in sales, operations and business development. Reporting to Chief Executive Officer, Floyd Miller, and based out of the company's San Diego headquarters, Dass will provide strategic oversight of SupplyPro's international business, as well as the go-to-market strategy for SupplyPro's software solutions.

"With the recent introduction of SupplySystem, SupplyPro is now poised for remarkable growth," said Miller. "Justin's experience in all aspects of sales, from inside sales to new business development and strategic planning, will have a tremendous impact on the company. I am delighted to welcome Justin to the team and look forward to his leadership and contributions across the organization."

Dass has over 10 years of experience in a variety of sales, operations and business development roles in the wholesale distribution and manufacturing industries. He most recently served as Senior Manager of Inside Sales and Business Development at Epicor Software Corporation, one of the largest enterprise resource planning (ERP) systems provider with nearly $1 billion in annual revenue and a presence in 150+ countries worldwide. While at Epicor he led teams of more than 80 sales professionals in the manufacturing, distribution, retail and services sectors. Prior to Epicor, he was a Senior Technology Consultant at Xerox, Director of Operations at Tyler Wholesale, Inc., and Senior Executive Team Lead at Target Corporation where he oversaw operations.

"This is an exciting time for both distributors and manufacturers as each look for ways to leverage emerging technologies to improve their bottom lines," said Dass. "The introduction of SupplySystem has put SupplyPro in a unique position to help both industries improve business processes and enhance their competitiveness in the global marketplace by delivering real-time business intelligence and data analytics via the industry's only configurable inventory control system. I believe technology is the foundation of the future and I am excited to join a company that has made embracing and integrating new technologies a top priority."

Justin holds a BA in Organizational Communication Studies from Winona State University, Winona, MN.

SupplyPro

SupplyPro is an inventory management solutions provider delivering scalable, configurable and automated industrial control systems to distributors and end-users. From manufacturing environments to high-tech cleanrooms, more than 400 industrial distributors depend upon SupplyPro to provide comprehensive solutions to their customers for managing all types of indirect materials and tools. Headquartered in San Diego, California, SupplyPro solutions are easy to deploy, operate and manage, and offer real-time business intelligence that ensures maximum inventory efficiency. For more information visit: <http://supplypro.com/>.